

Industrial Hygienist I San Diego, California

Occupational Services, Inc. (OSI) is actively seeking to fill an entry-level position, which requires 0 - 2 years experience and a B.S. or M.S. in Industrial Hygiene, Environmental Health, Safety Management or Occupational Health. Strong writing, communication, and training skills are mandatory. Furthermore, the applicant must be able to work independently in a productive small business environment and possess an entrepreneurial spirit and be willing to market, promote, and increase the company's services. Most importantly, we are looking for an individual with a strong desire to advance their career in health and safety with a fast-paced consulting company. The employee for this position will gain valuable experience and skills under the supervision of senior and certified staff.

Description of Company's Business:

Occupational Services, Inc. (OSI) is a health and safety consulting firm located in San Diego, CA, five miles from the Pacific Ocean. Established in 1988, OSI provides industrial hygiene, laboratory safety, radiation safety and environmental compliance services to biotechnology companies, research laboratories, hospitals, and manufacturing facilities throughout Southern California.

Position Description:

The successful candidate, who will receive on the job training, will provide services in the areas of laboratory safety, radiation safety, chemical safety, and biological safety. More specifically, the candidate will:

- Complete industrial hygiene surveys
- Conduct indoor quality testing and molding sampling
- Deliver safety training courses
- Act as a liaison during City, County and State regulatory inspections
- Inspect life science laboratories for Cal/OSHA compliance
- Write detailed safety and environmental assessment reports in an expedient manner
- Obtain and maintain environmental permits
- Arrange for the proper disposal of hazardous, radioactive, and biohazardous waste
- Conduct ergonomic assessments
- Prepare written safety manuals
- Market, promote, and advance the company

Interested candidates should promptly email their resume and their salary requirements to Occupational Services, Inc., Attention: Jeffrey A. Silvers, MPH, CIH, CSP.

Email: jeff@occserv.com.