Hi Everyone!

Please join us at the San Diego AIHA local section breakfast meeting on October 28, 2009 at 8:00 a.m. to learn more about the feature article in the June/July edition of The Synergist - Deconstructing "Green".

TOPIC: DECONSTRUCTING "GREEN"

The "Green Wave" is bringing innovation and environmentally responsible change into our homes and businesses, and is an emerging area of industrial activity stretching from research and development to full-scale production of commercial products. This presentation will take a brief look at each of the four major categories of Green activity: energy, materials, the built and natural environment, and services. Mr. Medina will also discuss some of the activities of the Green Building Working Group, which was recently formed for the purpose of "contributing AIHA's professional resources and technical expertise as a member of the U.S. Green Building Council and similar organizations in a common pursuit of transforming the way buildings are designed, built, operated, maintained, demolished and reused".

PRESENTER: Enrique Medina, MS, CIH

Enrique Medina is an environmental and occupational health and safety professional and president of Alliance Consulting International based in San Diego, California. He is a Certified Industrial Hygienist in private practice and holds a Master of Science degree in Biology from San Diego State University. He is the outgoing Chair of AIHA's Environmental Issues Committee, and a member of the Green Building Working Group.
